Indian cinema adapts franchise model

Inspired by Hollywood's Marvel Cinematic Universe where characters like Iron Man, Captain America, Hulk, Black Widow and many others often cross over to narratives centered on any one of them, making each film a superhero spectacle, Bollywood is also upping its game and creating superhero universe.

It will be interesting to see how this (universes and franchises) play out given the uniqueness that comes with the audience getting to see good, commercially entertaining cinema with two to three big heroes on the screen together.
